

Welcome to the Insight Sprite world!

Welcome to Bridgepoint Elementary, the Insight Sprite's school. Nestled into a fallen log, this cozy school is where the Sprites come together to learn with their teacher Bridget.

Each Sprite has a different way of moving so Bridgepoint Elementary has two entrances for different access needs. Some Sprites take the bridge to the front door of the school. Bridget, who has a mermaid tail, often uses the waterfall.

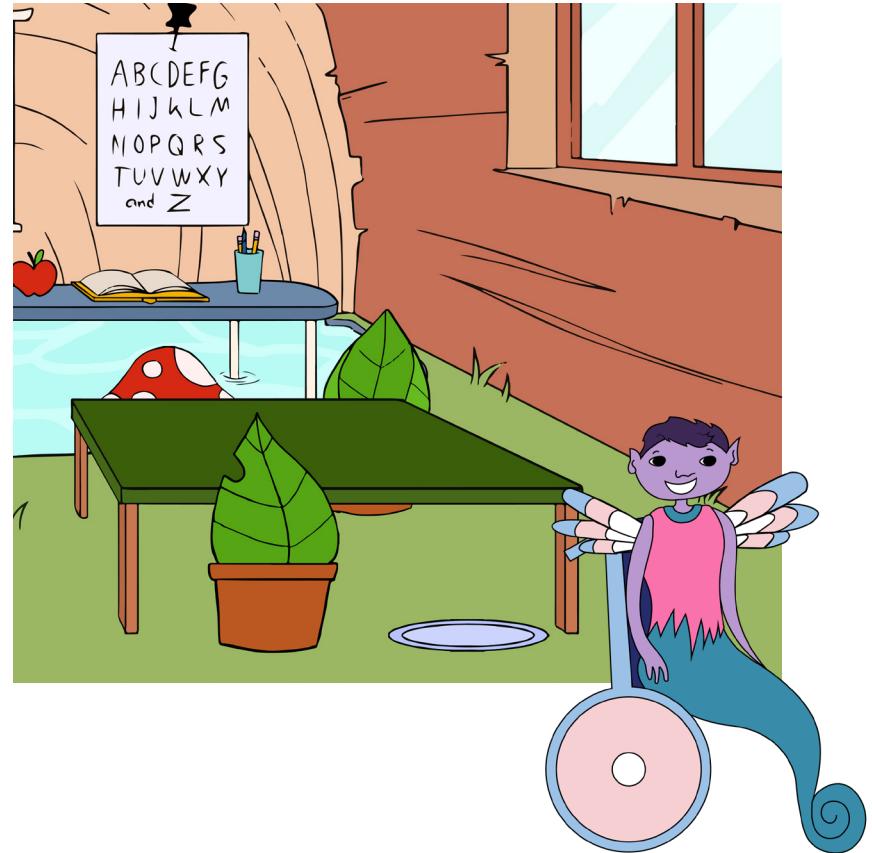

Inside Bridgepoint is a safe space. Here the Sprites are encouraged to be their authentic selves and all needs are seen as valid and important. The room maintains a sensory friendly atmosphere. A visual schedule provides predictability, and routines are maintained and honored.

The cozy corner sits away from the main workspace and is a quiet area available for reflection, breaks and alone time. The Sprites are encouraged to use the cozy corner whenever they need to.

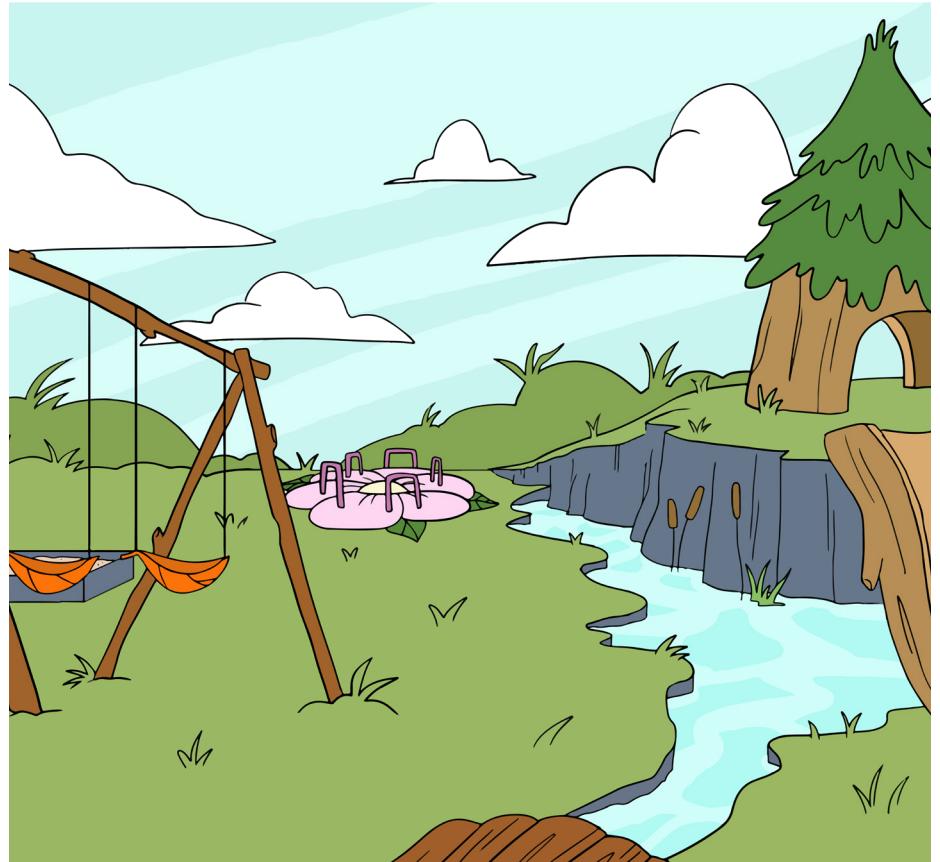

Water flows through the middle and front of the classroom allowing Bridget easy access to wherever she is needed. The Sprites have various soft and squishy seating options for times when they choose to work together. The Sprites are always supported in standing or moving around the classroom however they need to so they can stay comfortable.

You may have noticed there's one chair missing in the group area—that's a dedicated spot for Bohdi, a wheelchair user who prefers to have one habitual spot just for them.

Next to the classroom is the cafeteria. The Sprites get their food from the counter or bring their lunches from home and can choose to eat indoors or outside.

Behind the school is the playground. There are lots of fun things to do at the playground and each of the Sprites has their own favorite area.

Out on the playground, you can often find Dot on the merry-go-round. Spinning helps Dot feel grounded, especially after spending time concentrating in the classroom. Jade spends much of their outdoor time in the field with the flowers and butterflies exploring their passion of finding patterns in nature.

Thanks for joining us on a tour of Bridgepoint Elementary! There's lots more to the Insight Sprite world that we'd love to share. To see more, check out our SEA Bridge curriculum.
